

Index of Refraction Problem

Step 1: Draw in one of the beams of light that you used to help find the index of refraction for your unknown substance in the picture below

Step 2: Neatly show your calculation of how you found the index of refraction for your substance

Step 3: Now calculate the speed of light as it moves through your unknown substance. Show this calculation in the space below. Enter your answers into the program to show that you did everything correctly